King JAY AVARMAN VII died mysteriously around 1220 and Angkor civilization went into decline

Genghis Khan road into SAMARKAND to ravage one of Central Asia's great cities (Perhaps 80,000 riders)

Population (by modern est.) was 300,000+; They produced saddles, copper lamps and silver bowls.
One after another cities
toppled: Samarkand, Bukhara, Urgench, Balkh, Merv, Nishapur

Herat, Shazni

They had Catapults (mangonels) and flaming arrows.

Mongols marched 30,000 skilled men from Samarkand to toil in less developed Mongolia.

Remarkably skilled Mongol horsemen were especially adept at shooting targets to their rear.

A herd of fresh horses were always near at hand, providing ex. cavalymen with up to 4 remounts.
They pounded cities with fiery naphtha boats
